

RECORDS AND HISTORY OF
DESCENDANTS OF
JAMES McKNIGHT MORROW.

THE MORROW HISTORY

The Morrrows were dissenting Protestants who came from Northern Ireland to the eastern shores of Virginia, perhaps in the 17th century.

In 1790 in Mecklenburg County, the Morrrows, Maxwells and McKnights were living in districts #1 and #7--that is, Steel Creek and Beatties Ford Section. The James McKnight Morrow family were closely related to Major Benjamin Morrow who married a daughter of Governor William Hawkins, and whose old home in Pineville, N.C. Major Morrow's home was in what is now Myers Park, Charlotte, N.C.

Major Morrow and his family are buried in the church yard of the First Presbyterian Church, in Charlotte, N.C., just inside the entrance gate.

James McKnight Morrow came from Prince Edward, county of Virginia, in 1786 and settled in Lancaster County, South Carolina, not far from where old Six-Mile Creek Church was located. It was an old log church about a mile from the present location. The old church was burned, probably between 1830 and 1840. There is an old cemetery at the spot (the old Six-Mile Cemetery). It is on a public road beyond the home of Mrs. Charlie Harris. It can be reached from Hanham, Coocola, Marvin or Belair. It is now being restored and the grave stones are being re-erected; some have stood through the years. There are probably a hundred graves there; some are unmarked. James McKnight Morrow and wife Susannah Watson Morrow and also some of the children are buried there. It was noted that James M. Morrow and wife received a land grant of six hundred and fifty acres. The old cemetery was called the Morrow Cemetery years ago.

The land for the present church was given by Allen Morrow, son of James McKnight Morrow. He also helped build the church. Many members of the Morrow family, and relatives of the Morrrows, are buried there. The church is known as the Six-Mile Creek Presbyterian Church, located on the Charlotte-Lancaster highway. The evangelist, Billy Graham, is also of the Morrow tribe. His mother is Mrs. Morrow Coffey Graham. He, too, is a great-great grandson of James McKnight Morrow....

The following records through the fifth generation were obtained from the Archives Bldg., in Washington, D.C. along with other records that we hope to have later for our records. The other records we have here are from family members and some are recorded in Lancaster County and Mecklenburg County.

I, Azalee Morrow Lentz, with the very able assistance of my beloved husband Jack, have worked on the records for over a period of twelve years. My wishes are for each family member to have a copy and that these pages will be passed on to future generations, with the names of all new members added to the list, and all records kept through the ages.

My prayer is for every family member to be present "Over on the Other Side?" for a happy reunion with all our loved ones. May God Bless Us Every One.

Mrs. Laura Kell, River Road, Pascagoula, has three artistic hand-painted portraits, done in New Orleans by a French artist more than 100 years ago. They are in good condition, and are 36 by 45 inches in size; and replicas of Henry Colson, the maternal grandfather of Mrs. Laura Kell; Nicholas Gurlie, and Henriette Gurlie, who owned a colonial home on what is known as the Tom Kell Farm, on River Road. (1)

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Parker, who came to Pascagoula in 1880, have in their home two portraits done by noted artists; one is of the former's father, Henry Parker, at the age of three, painted in 1851 by Fleichman, of New Orleans. The other, a likeness of two of his father's brothers, James and William F. A. Parker - as small children - was painted by Fleichman three years previous. (2)

Mrs. Martin Freeman, of Pascagoula, has a portrait and a painting combined that of her father, Charles McClanathan, when he was three years old, with two small sisters and a dog, painted about 1856. The scenery is on the Mississippi River just above New Orleans, and a boat is coming around a curve.

In Mrs. J. W. Frellson's home is a portrait of her mother when she was Clara Robinson, of Kent, England, before her marriage to Henry Dupre, of New Orleans. This portrait, done about the time of her wedding, was a gift from Mr. Dupre to his young wife. The frame of gold leaf, made in various sized mouldings, was done by Washburn, of New Orleans.

In the home of the Walker and Pickett families of Pascagoula, is a lifesized portrait of Captain George Huggins, grandfather of George Huggins, of Pascagoula, made in 1848. Coming to Mobile from Maryland in 1814, Captain Huggins was at one time sheriff of Mobile County. He helped to organize the Cowbellian Society, which instituted the first Mardi Gras, making Mobile the mother of Mystics. He was made captain of the Mobile City Troops before Zachery Taylor was elected president in 1848. The picture, which was hanging in the Armory in Mobile, Alabama, during the occupancy by Federal soldiers under General Canby, was mutilated by sword and bayonet thrusts.

I bought a telescopic sight for my B.B gun a few weeks ago. However, the sight would not go on my rifle. This riled me for two reasons; one: I had spent a month waiting for it to get here and then it ~~wouldn't~~ wouldn't fit. two; It cost $10. Boy! I tell you; that burns me up! And they said it ~~was~~ would fit all rifles of that make. But ~~maybe~~ maybe it will turn out alright; Dad is going to send it with (and I quote) ~~xx~~ "a red hot letter from Papa!"

I can't think of anything more to say so I will do like old soldiers do; I'll just fade away.

Much love,

Dennis

Dear Betty,

Thanks ever so much for the $10.00 you gave me.

I got ~~and~~ an Instamatic #400 camera for Christmas and am going to take it to Canada with me.
It has an electric eye and a pop-up-flash. It is a 35mm and takes beautiful color ~~for~~ slides. I am very sorry to say that it is very expensive to run.
So I joined the Tower Film Club.

Every time I send ~~on~~ a roll of film in to be processed they send me a new roll of film free.
(The price only covers processing.) For color film it only costs $2.99.

I sure hope you are ~~fast~~ feeling well? I am. Mom and Dennis are down with the flu.

Someday ~~soon~~ soon I am going to come down and see you. (I hope!)
How is the gulf? as pretty as ever?
I sure hope to see you soon.

Lots of Love,
Mike

Dear Betty,

April 13 1961

Mother and I were to old <sup>for</sup> candy, so she gave us
2 dollars for an Easter present. ~~Then~~ Thank you for the 3 dollars. I already had 1 dollar, if I would have used my money I would had ~~of~~ had 6 dollars. Mike told me that he had bought me a Rebel flag. And ~~I~~ (this sounds nice) but I would like you to send it to me. Would you? With my Easter money
I bought a Civil War pistol.
Mike bought a Civil War musket.

Your friend,
Dennis

Dear Aunt Betty,
Thank you for the nice present. I like the pearls in the tie-clip and the cufflinks, and the ties are very pretty. your friend

Dennis.

P.S.

Don't forget to write

Dear Betty,

I truly thank you for the $5 you sent me. I am very sorry that I did not thank you last year, so as the man said; My mother thanks you; My father thanks you; My brother thanks you; etc.

I am typeing this on my new typewriter that I got for Christmas. This is what I got: Atypewriter (Royal- Quiet De Luxe), A model and a can of spray paint to go with it, A blue blazer, Typing paper, And 12 pencils. This is the hottest winter we have had in a very, very, VERY, VERY long time. And I say that because they (the weather men) say that the same thing goes for Christmas Eve.

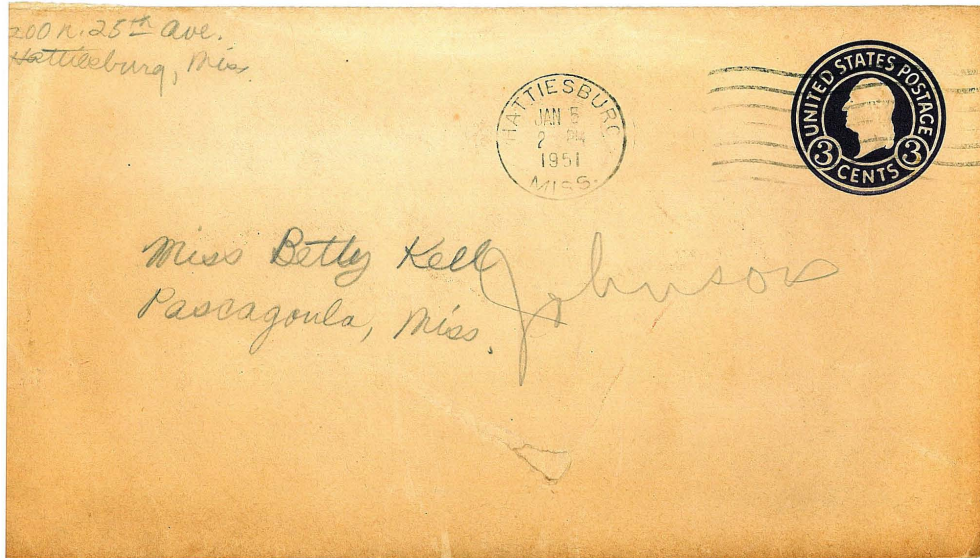

Dingo had 7 puppies and we sold all but one (it was ~~gi~~ given away) and Mike made about a million dollers (pardon my spelling) out of it. As far as I'm concerned he's as rich as Midas anyway!

I wish from here to High ~~Heaven~~ Heaven that I could come down there and see you and go fishing, get bit by crabs, get cut on catfish, and generally have fun. But just you wait; ONE OF THESE DAYS!

I have told you about the weather, have I not? Yes; I have. I have ~~weather~~ never wished for snow like I am doing now. I do this because I like sledding very much and don't get a chance to go very often.

I am now making good grades in skhool. Last term I made the ~~following~~ following grades: Math-B, Scocial Studies:B+, English:B, Science:B-, Art:B, P.E. :B. And my scedual goes as

My dear Miss Ellie:

I want to commend your teachers who are so interested in their children and their welfare that they bring them to the library to introduce them to an opportunity that otherwise they might not meet. Miss Betty Kell, particularly, has done this consistently and has made a special effort to bring her children to the library to spend a while on Saturday so that they can find out what might be waiting for them here. Teachers who have this sort of interest in their pupils' welfare, it seems to me, would mean a great deal to our city's future.

Sincerely,

Dearest Betty,

My I wish I could see you! It's too bad that families are so far apart. Bettie is the only one near - about fifteen miles to Greenville. She comes every week and we do a little grocery shopping and looking. It's good about calling - so we are close enough to call with long distance rates.

Fay's son married Sept. 28th and is teaching at Woodbury Forest Preparatory School. Susannah, his wife, has a job as assistant manager at Monticello, Thomas Jefferson Home in Charlottesville - they live in Orange, Va.

and best wishes for the new year.

Hi Aunt Betty -

—Hope all is well in MS. The weather here in IN has not decided what it wants to do. It's cold then warm. It's perfect weather for a head cold. We're excited to be going home to AK for the holidays to be with family. We've both been working really hard with work and school and we both need a break. I just completed another semester of nursing school - just three more to go. Yea!! I really enjoy what I'm learning. I'm just ready to get out and put what I'm learning to use! Mom just had back surgery and I'm going home to help take care of her. She's really doing well though. Will will be starting a full time job in January. He graduates this month with an accounting major. He's really excited. Powell will be starting a 9 month Co-op experience in Chemical Engineering in January also. He'll go back to school for one more semester in Sept. All else is well in the Millard family. Have a very Merry  Christmas!

May the beauty of the Season be with you all through the year

Love,
Kelly

Sunday night

My dearest Ray.

Just back from church and am going to spend a few minutes with you.

Don and Eunice drove over from Slidell yesterday afternoon spent the night with us and the day. They left this afternoon at 3-30.

Lola & the children were here too

Lola has not been very well. She has weak spells. Dad says due to her kidneys. He started giving her medicine today and he thinks she will be alright in a week or two.

Naomi is still improving. She took her first steps Thursday. They put her on her feet and then they told her to see if she could step. She took two steps. She has been taking a few steps each day since. I guess they will bring her home this week. Isn't it wonderful how rapidly she is recovering.

I was in Mobile Thursday and sent her a bunch of beautiful sweet peas and a convalescent card from all the Kells.

Did you ever get your sweet peas planted? Well I did. Next week I am going to plant about fifty gladiolus.

Dad is writing you and I will send in this letter.

I got a long letter from Belle and they are very proud of little Faye. Says she is gaining every day.

much afraid that her mother and father are going to ruin her.
You know Mrs Carrington is with will enjoy it. Do you suppose I could use your yellow (printed) evening

it? Just lots of love and good wishes

Dr. William R. Kell Is Nominated As Jackson County's Outstanding Citizen

A man whose career has been interwoven with the life of the county for more than half century was chosen to receive the loving cup offered by the Business Girls Club to the outstanding citizen of Jackson County.

And that description is truer than one would suspect, for the man chosen for this signal honor was Dr. William R. Kell who has practiced medicine from one end of the county to the other since 1881.

The presentation was made at a ball held Thursday night at the 11th street auditorium. E. A. Whayat served as master of ceremonies. Miss Dorothy Rhode is president of the young women's club.

Nominations from throughout the county were received by the club, each accompanied by a letter giving reasons for the choice. From the numbers received, the club eliminated the possibilities to five and these nominees were turned over to a committee of unbiased judges for final decision.

For many years, Dr. Kell has been one of the best known figures in the county and there are few, if any, of the older residents of the county who have not had some professional association with the now white haired doctor.

Pay With Food

Dr. Kell has seen the county through a certain yellow fever epidemic, epidemic outbreaks of typhoid and various and sundry waves of illness—dysentery and some major. He has brought more babies into the world than he can count and later brought them through attacks of whooping cough, measles and chicken pox. He has seen the county through many an epidemic and can remember settling his oft-time un-rendered bill with Dr. Kell with chickens, vegetables from the garden or even a whole pig. Mrs. Kell even remembers one lucky day when they got a half-grown Jersey cow.

DR. WILLIAM R. KELL, 64 YEARS OLD PHYSICIAN WHO has practiced in this county for more than 50 years, was presented the Citizenship Award as the outstanding citizen of the county at a ball given Thursday night by the Business Girls' Club, which sponsored the awarding of the loving cup.

Dr. Kell was born in Necklen-berk County, North Carolina, September 25, 1863, on a plantation near Charlotte. His parents were Dr. James T. Kell and Mary Susan Morrow. After attending the academy near his home he entered Davidson college and was graduated in the class of 1885. He then went to the University of Virginia for 18 months of premedical work and after that he went to New York where he finished and interned at Bellevue Hospital.

The young practitioner went to Mobile that same year and on advice of a friend he came on to what was then Scranton and set up practice. The very next year he was married to Mary Elizabeth Blake.

All was not rosy for the young physician. He had been in practice here only a short time when he discovered two cases of lep-rosy. The sufferers from this disease, and their families were highly indignant at the suggestion their ailment was leprosy and in one case suit was even threatened but when the diagnosis was verified by other physicians nothing more was heard of any litigation.

Hangd In Effigy

In 1897 Dr. Kell and Dr. Ford discovered a few cases of yellow fever in the county and the anger of a certain group of citizens fell on Dr. Kell's head again. Apparently some people believed that if no notice was taken of the dread disease it would simply vanish—a viewpoint nurtured by selfishness, for publicity of an outbreak of yellow fever in those days did a town considerable harm. A few of the citizens even went so far as to hang the young doctor in effigy.

The yellow fever proved to be the real thing, however, and it was a year later, after many had died, before the epidemic was brought under control. A yellow fever camp was set up at Fontainebleau and when Dr. Kell contracted a mild case of the fever himself, he, too, entered the camp.

Typhoid was a constant threat throughout the county, he remains, as there was no protection against the infection in those days.

Traveling about the county had its drawbacks, too, as the highway between Pascagoula and Gautier was as yet unbuilt and Dr. Kell had to either ride on a hand car over the railroad trestle or drive his horse and buggy onto a ferry boat to make calls on the other side of the river. A call to the North end of the county or to Bayou LaBatre meant an all day jaunt.

Dr. Kell has watched with interest the growth and development of the rural sections of the county and in his opinion probably no single thing did as much for the rural families as the coming of home demonstration and county agents. The quality of the food improved immeasurably and living conditions became much more comfortable under tutelage of the home demonstration agents, he said.

Dr. and Mrs. Kell had 13 children, nine of whom are living. They are Mrs. E. O. Munson of Clinton, La., R. E. Kell of Bristol, Va., Mrs. Powell Millard of West Point, Miss., Mrs. W. W. Tinsley of Flagstaff, Ariz., Miss Betty Kell who is now attending Mississippi Southern College at Hattiesburg and Mrs. D. J. Simmons, Miss Kathleen Kell, Miss Johnsie Kell and T. B. Kell of Pascagoula. They have 15 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

TWO GRANDDAUGHTERS FOR DR. AND MRS. W. R. KELL

Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Kell are proud and happy over the arrival of two beautiful little granddaughters during the past two weeks.

The first one to arrive was in Bristol, Virginia, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kell; the second was born to Mr. and Mrs. Powell Millard (formerly Miss Nell Kell), at West Point, Miss.

We add our congratulations to those of many friends, and hope these little ones will always be the joy and pride of their parents and grandparents. sep. 18 - 1936

FRIENDS CONGRATULATE PHYSICIAN ON BIRTHDAY

Dr. W. R. Kell Felicitated Upon Reaching 71, and For Long and Honored Work.

(From The Chronicle-Star)

One of Pascagoula's finest and most useful citizens celebrated a birthday anniversary Wednesday morning, and those of his countless friends who learned of it hastened to offer warm and sincere congratulations. The citizen is Dr. W. R. Kell, who on Wednesday reached the age of 71 years in the enjoyment of good health and the affections of thousands of people, and surrounded by a family that all Pascagoula loves.

Dr. Kell is a native of Mecklenburg county, North Carolina, being a member of a pioneer family. He attended Davidson College, took a medical course at Charlottesville, Va., and served an internship at Bellevue Hospital in New York City, leaving there in 1890. A year later he located in Pascagoula to practice medicine, and in 1892 married Miss Betty Blake, daughter of Captain and Mrs. A. F. Blake of Moss Point.

The years following saw his participation in the professional, civic and business affairs of the city, and few men have had a more profound influence in the county. A friend and counsellor to hundreds, he has lived up to the honorable traditions of the "country doctor," and is respected by an entire community. Dr. and Mrs. Kell have reared a splendid family of nine boys and girls, all of whom have been educated in the schools and colleges of the South and entered into the life of this and adjoining cities.

Along with hundreds of others, the Chronicle-Star extends its heartiest congratulations to this respected citizen and wish for him continued happiness for years to come.

WE SEE IT THIS WAY

Two teachers deserve tribute

Two Pascagoula school women whose dedicated careers helped guide the feet of thousands of boys and girls along the path to good citizenship died recently.

One was Kathleen Ruth Kell, who spent 25 years in the school system in teaching and supervisory capacities.

The other was Mrs. Alice Rourke Hull who spent nearly 40 years teaching in Pascagoula schools and was once principal of the high school.

Both were able administrators and outstanding teachers. Both had the unique and priceless gift of winning the confidence of students they taught or supervised and parents who brought school-related problems to them.

Mrs. Hull, who died at the age of 91, was long retired. Miss Kell was only 56 at time of her death and scheduled to be principal of the Eastlawn Elementary School this year.

In view of their accomplishments and dedication it seems to us fitting that they be memorialized in some permanent form and we believe there are hundreds of students who studied under them who would want to participate in making it possible.

The memorial could be a plaque, attractive plater or in any one of a dozen forms.

That for Miss Kell could be at South School, where she spent so many years; and that for Mrs. Hull at the high school.

We would suggest that former students whose memories of them are based in personal accomplishments made possible by the training they received, form a committee to make necessary plans, accept donations and arrange for a dedication ceremony.

These former students could be men and women now grown, whose youthful efforts were directed along rewarding and fruitful paths by Miss Kell and Mrs. Hull.

Or perhaps a Pascagoula civic club would be interested in heading up the plan.

The material reward of these two women for their years of teaching was not great. Despite training required and talents demanded, pay of educators is far below the average of those of similar training and talents employed in the business world.

Therefore, a degree of dedication hard for the average person to understand is required. It was this dedication the two had that, combined with their talents, made them the well-loved and respected educators they were.

We hope former students and grateful parents — both those still living in Pascagoula or who have moved away — will rally behind the plan.

They know better than others that the late Mrs. Hull and Miss Kell, who between them spent 65 years of their lives in the Pascagoula school system, more than merit a permanent memorial.

Model Farm Will Be Put In Operation in County

Kell Place on River Road Just North of Pascagoula to Be Improved and Converted Into Model Homstead.

Work began this week on the "model farm" of the rural rehabilitation pro- gram in Jackson County, with the oc- cupancy of the 60 acre farm on the River Road, about two miles north of Pascagoula. Mrs. Mary R. Stokoe, Jackson County welfare worker, re- ported. This is said to be the first such model farm in Mississippi under this Emergency Relief Administration rural rehabilitation program.

In Jackson county there are now in operation 33 rural rehabilitation pro- jects of which the model farm is one. These projects were arranged in a two weeks' period in June under the na- tional plan of helping farmers to help themselves, and they bid fair to be the finest piece of permanent assist- ance and relief done under the govern- ment's relief program. Mrs. Stokoe is quoted as stating. Under this plan farmers on the FERA rolls, who, either occupied their own farms, or were successful tenant farmers, but who, due to economic conditions were un- able to operate without assistance were given aid through the ERA. This aid took the direction of a loan to the farmer in his purchase of necessary materials, equipment, livestock, farm implements, to make it possible to operate; the farmer in turn to pay for his purchases through the sale to the local relief department products from his farm, or to pay from other earn- ings realized, and incidentally, the loans were made without interest, it was explained.

Among the 33 rural rehabilitation projects in this county all except one are for white farmers, the one being a negro. Work is progressing satisfac- torily on the various projects, the two farm foremen, H. C. Strickler and R. M. Spaulding report. These foremen visit the various projects weekly and submit reports of general conditions, their duty being that of advisors. Both Messrs. Strickler and Spaulding are experienced farmers who know the soil and weather conditions of the county and their assistance is thus doubly valuable, it was said.

The committee that is directing the rural rehabilitation work in this county is composed of Mrs. Mary R. Stokoe, county welfare worker; Mrs. Iola M. Havens, county home demon- stration agent; A. J. Franklin, county farm agent, and the two farm fore- men, and this committee must pass on all requisitions made by the farmers in the project work.

The model farm is located on the beautiful 60 acre farm owned by Dr. Thos. G. Kell, on the River Road, two miles north of Pascagoula. Dr. Kell, interested in this constructive activity, leased the farm, free of charge, for a two year period. Dr. Kell reserved the crop of pecans from the pecan grove on the farm, and the occupant of the farm is obliged to "look after" the grove. The occupant of the farm is Jake Overstreet, his wife and seven children, who moved into the place Monday. Plans for the farm as out- lined by Mrs. Stokoe, allow for re- pair of the dwelling, clearing of the grounds and planting as soon as pos- sible of much of the farm.

The work of doing over the interior of the house and furnishings will be under the supervision of Mrs. Havens, county home demonstration agent. The farming and crop supervision will be in charge of Mr. Franklin, county farm agent. The idea is to use this place and its successful operation as a model for other farmers of the entire com- munity, with the purpose of securing the best results at the lowest possible cost of operation.

This week a group of volunteer laborers from the FERA rolls are aid- ing in the preliminary clearing of the place, as it were, giving Mr. Overstreet a friendly "lift" in getting started.

The Overstreet family is composed of the parents and seven children in- cluding two sets of twins, Lloyd and Lois, 5 years old; and Genevieve and Addie Lee, 2 1-2 years old; William, 12; John, 9.

In selecting the occupants of the model farm as well as other rural re- habilitation projects, preference is given to men with families, in order to train children in farm activities.

Arrangements have been made to graze the cattle allotted to the county from the drought-stricken Pontainebleau farms, accord- ing to information from the county welfare worker. A recent report has stated that four carloads of cattle are to be shipped to the county.

About seven thousand head of cattle have arrived in the state, and are coming in every day. Re- quirements regarding vac- cine, met, the cattle are shipped for grazing. All are branded and will be permitted to enter the channels in any way. This will be slaughtered at cen- ters and processed and canned for workers for distribution to the counties.

Originally Mississippi was estimated to have 35,000 head of cattle, but the number has been increased to 40,000.

The work of placement of the county is under County Agent J. Franklin.

MR. AND MRS. ZINK CELEBRATE 50TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Sunday, August 5, marked the fiftieth milestone in the marriage of Pascagoula's most popular couples, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Zink. On this happy occasion friends and neighbors gathered in the apartment bright with flowers which filled many vases, and lent an air of festivity to the surroundings.

The host and hostess, so happy, standing in the entrance greeted their friends and neighbors with hearty congratulations. At the open desk, lay the guest book in which each visitor wrote his name as a token of appreciation.

In the dining room the table was decorated by a basket of fruit and arranged, a remembrance of the Woman's Auxiliary of the First Church, held numerous tokens of affection from Pascagoula and elsewhere. A china cabinet, an old clock, original wedding presents, and a picture of the bride and groom, been wound faithfully, ev- ery ticked off the hours as it went off the years for this pair traveled such a long road.

In the living room Mr. Zink gave an account of the wedding and the popularity of the bride and groom. Souvenirs of the wedding, much enjoyed by all, were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Zink, at the time of their marriage, the both parties, their son and daughter.

Dr. J. T. Kell Passes to Beyond.

Times-Democrat of Charlotte, N. C., of May 5, 1910.
One of the county's most honored and picturesque citizens has passed in the death last evening of Dr. J. T. Kell, who died at his home in Providence township. He was 78 years of age. He spent his boyhood and young manhood days in Chester county, S. C., but with this exception he gave his skill and services to the community in which he died. He was educated at Davidson College and received his doctor's degree in New York. He served in the Confederate army as a private, being a member of the Thirtieth North Carolina regiment, with which he went through the entire four years of the war. He won such laurels for his bravery that he was promoted to captain before the close of the conflict.
He was married to Miss Mary Morrow a few years before the war. He is survived by Mr. John A. Kell, of Lancaster county, South Carolina; Messrs. S. H. and D. H. Kell, of Providence township; Drs. W. R. and Thos. G. Kell, of Mississippi; Misses Cloud and Sadie Kell, who lived with him.
Dr. Kell began practicing with Dr. W. A. Ardrey, who was very feeble and unable to look after his practice. Dr. Kell assured a large practice at once and made hundreds of friends. He was the best type of the old Southern gentleman—courteous, obliging, sympathetic and kind. At once taking a high rank as doctor and citizen, his people sent him to the Legislature in 1887 and 1889. He was faithful to this trust and he was to every other trust.
Dr. Kell began fifteen years ago to gradually relinquish his practice and devoted his energies to cultivating the soil. He owned a large farm and killed it with unusual care and success. He was a Presbyterian and a promoter of the Montreat resort where he had a summer cottage. He had been in ill health for some time and the end was not unexpected.

Marriage of Miss Cecile Dailey.

The wedding of Miss Cecile Dailey and Mr. John Lowe was celebrated at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of May 11th in the Methodist church, Rev. T. B. Holloman officiating. The church was a bower of beauty, with lavish decorations in pink and green. Before the ceremony there was a musical performance of exceptional beauty. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Lolla Vanderwall as the bridal party entered, led by the ushers, Messrs. Jesse Thompson and Clyde McInnis. The maid of honor, Miss Ina Thompson, immediately preceded the bride. Miss Thompson was beautifully gowned in a pink messaline creation, and carried an exquisite bouquet of pink carnations. The bride entered with her father, Capt. W. P. Dailey, who gave her away, the bridegroom awaiting them at the altar with his best man, Dr. T. E. Rehfeldt. The bride's costume was a lovely creation of white lingerie with a picture hat. She carried a bouquet of bride roses.
A wedding reception followed at the home of Captain and Mrs. W. P. Dailey, to which only the members of the bridal party and a very few other guests were invited. Among the out of town guests were Miss Hazel Richardson, of Mobile and Mr. Walter Lowe, of Vaiden, Miss.
The display of presents was rich and beautiful. Mr. and Mrs. Lowe left Wednesday evening for New Orleans, where they will spend a few days.
The wedding has been of special social interest here and was a very largely attended event.
Delightful Party.
On Wednesday afternoon Miss Lolla Vanderwall gave a party, when the young ladies were asked to meet Miss Suzette Keithley, her guest. The decorations of the room were prettily carried out in white and green, with cut flowers and ferns. Miss Lolla entertained in a very novel way, everything suggestive of her intended trip abroad. In the progressive game, Miss Eva Valverde was the lucky winner of the prize, a lovely Irish crochet jacket. The "bride-to-be" was presented a beautiful bunch of sweet peas. The guests were Misses Minnie Jellie, Annie Bell and Charleita Hester, Clara and Mary Emma Morris, Eva Valverde, Della Owsen, Pearl Foster, Helen Van Meter, Wilhelmina, Margaretta Murray and Ina Thompson.

DR. J. T. KELL.

Resolutions of respect passed by the session of Banks Presbyterian church, Mecklenburg Presbytery, N. C.

As a church and session, we mourn the loss of Dr. J. T. Kell. Rare indeed is a life so rounded out and complete. A man equal to the diverse calls of peace and war, of domestic and public life. Great and good before the world but equally so in the precincts of home and among his neighbors.

Graduating at the Charleston Citadel at the outbreak of the Civil War, Dr. Keil organized a company of his friends and neighbors which he lead through the Civil War, retiring at its close, lieutenant-colonel of his regiment. Completing his medical studies, he spent twenty-five years, the best of his life, serving his community as a physician, riding through winter storms and summer suns over a wide territory; bringing healing for the body, and hope for the soul to the bedside of the sick and dying, equally to the home of the rich and the lowly cabin of the poor; giving the ministry of the wise head and the tender heart. Winning the confidence and respect of the whole community, he repeatedly represented them in the Legislature of his State, carrying into politics the same high ideals, lofty principles, and inflexible integrity he had manifested in private life.

But if he was distinguished as a soldier, a physician, and a public servant, we feel that these but illustrate and adorn that higher service which he rendered to God and humanity as a Christian and an elder in the Church of God. Of dignified presence, of commanding stature, of most benign and courteous manners there ripened in him more and more as the years advanced, that beauty of holiness, that grace of humility which showed a growing likeness to that Captain whom he loved to serve. In all the courts of the church he was distinguished for his wise counsel, his temperate views, and his unassuming liberality. How often in these latter years when, with the snows of more than seventy winters upon his head, but with the humble faith of a little child, his voice was heard in prayer in the house of God. Every one of us felt that here was one who lived very near to God.

It was a privilege and a blessing to have known him and especially to see him in his own home. Here was the best fruitage of the Calvinistic creed of his forbears; of that dauntless, tender, yet stern Covenanter blood from which he sprung; of the heroic traditions of the chivalrous training of the Carolinas; of those free institutions for which both he and his forefathers were ready to bleed and die. As a church and session we cannot express the greatness of our loss nor our thankfulness to God for his life among us. We would follow his faith and covet to be like him in life, in death, and in glory.
